Better to give a deputation allowance of

BANGALORE.

Sir,

I have the honor to inform His Highness's Government that classes are periodically held at Amritsar, under Major Christopher I.M.S., one of the foremost experts in Malaria, for the training of medical officers in malaria field work. The class lasts about a month I believe. I wish to send one or two of our medical officers to undergo the course. I request the necessary sanction to do so. No fee is required. A class is being opened this week, according to a wire just received from the Sanitary Commissioner with the Government of India. But of course it is quite impossible to get Government sanction early enough to despatch a man in time. Besides, even if there were time I would not now spare a man in the face of epidemic Plague. So I request that sanction will now be accorded so that if the opportunity again occurs I may be able to despatch a man at the shortest notice.

I have the honor to be,
Sir,
Your most obedient servant.
